Indian, Eskimo, Aleut Owned and Operated Arts and Crafts Businesses

SOURCE DIRECTORY

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

INDIAN ARTS AND CRAFTS BOARD

The entries in this directory are Indian, Eskimo and Aleut (Native American) owned and operated arts and crafts businesses which offer a wide variety of creative products for sale. Included are (1) artist and craftsmen cooperatives, (2) tribal arts and crafts enterprises, (3) businesses privately owned and operated by Native American designer/craftsmen and artists, and (4) businesses privately owned and operated by Native American merchants who retail and/or wholesale authentic Native American arts and crafts products. Also included are several non-profit organizations which work directly with Native American groups to develop products and markets.

This publication is only a directory, not an order catalog, and detailed information about products and prices must be obtained directly from each source.

Information appearing in the directory entries was provided by the respective business.

The majority of the sources listed maintain retail shops, and visitors to the areas where they are located are especially welcomed. As noted in the entries, several businesses have indicated they offer mail order services. Mail customers should realize that many of these businesses have small staffs, and delays in correspondence are sometimes unavoidable. A stamped self-addressed business-size envelope should be sent with requests for price lists or catalogs. As some of the businesses also sell commercial souvenirs, be sure to specify that you wish information and prices on authentic Native American handcrafted products only.

TRUE

FALSE

There is great public demand for Native American crafts at present. While this has been beneficial to Native American craftsmen, it also has encouraged misrepresentation of products that are not really handmade by Native Americans. Because there are some abuses, we recommend these guidelines to consumers who wish to purchase genuine Native American handcrafts:

1. Buy from a dealer with a regularly established place of business, who will be available later to answer any questions or complaints you may have about your purchase. Itinerant dealers are not necessarily dishonest, however, you have no practical recourse in such dealings, so this means of doing business is most easily subject to abuse.

2. In any case, obtain a written receipt that includes all the information you understand to be true about your purchase. For example, if you believe the piece of jewelry you are purchasing is handmade by a Navajo craftsman, of sterling silver and natural turquoise, then you should insist that this information appear on your receipt.

3. Complaints about misrepresentation may be brought to the attention of the Indian Arts and Crafts Board.
